Thanks Steve. I think we might be interested in pursuing something. It's kind of hectic right now, so let me give you a call when things settle down a little bit. Probably next week. Talk with you later.

Sean:

Thanks for the dinner the other night. I enjoyed meeting with you and Deanna and getting caught up on how things are going. It was also good to hear that both of you are optimistic about the outlook with UBS. I wanted to respond to your offer to meet with Mr. Belden to discuss potential opportunities within your origination group. Having considered the opportunities relative to the outlook for my consulting business, I am not interested in pursuing the UBS opportunity at this time. The concept of running the origination from Seattle intrigued me initially, but I cannot personally advocate a geographically segregated origination operation as a viable business solution.

I would be interested in a follow up meeting with you and Tim, but I think my intent would be framed from exploring potential opportunities to provide consulting services to UBS rather than exploring employment opportunities. I understand that this may not fit with your needs to prioritize your own time and efforts right now, but if you would like to get together, please let me know.

Also - I don't have Deanna's e-mail address. If you could forward this on to her, I would appreciate it. Thanks again for the dinner last week.

Attached is the latest draft of the SC roles matrix that we handed out yesterday. The major changes are indicated by bolding in the "customer type" column. As mentioned yesterday, we are still considering the request for the BPA SC to take on the SC role for slicers load, so no change has been made to those items at this time.

Transmission Expansion and Systems in Transition Conference

Feb. 5-8, 2002, Miami, Florida

OVERVIEW

This conference will examine the business and regulatory challenges to U.S. electric systems in transition in effectively expanding transmission capacity to meet new demands in the larger and more competitive regional markets emerging under FERC's RTO initiatives. The conference will review the parameters of these challenges and possible solutions to them. It will examine technology options and new business models for transmission expansion. It will analyze emerging proposals for effective transmission planning and pricing, including market-based pricing alternatives to FERC's traditional pricing methods. The conference will also discuss what it will take in legislative action and regulatory initiative to achieve an efficient regime for ensuring that the nation has a reliable grid and regional trading system.

March 26-28 2002, Atlanta, Georgia

OVERVIEW

This conference will highlight the commonalties and common applications between the asset management processes used throughout the enterprise. The conference will emphasize the need to link the physical power generation asset management processes to the activities and processes of the trading and marketing process. The processes of Asset management will be addressed from three distinct perspectives, first, the long-term perspective of portfolio developers, second the more medium term perspective of maintenance/system planners and third the conference will link short term issues of the trading & marketing departments. The purpose is to show how these processes can be integrated to the individual assets (plants) in order to provide consistent and profitable strategies for the generation asset owner.

Ancillary Services Conference

April 10-12, 2002, Denver, Colorado

OVERVIEW

As more and more regions in North America open wholesale markets to competition, the importance of ancillary services is increasingly recognized. These services, generally provided by the same generators that produce the competitive energy product, are vital for both commerce and reliability.

This conference will cover the key engineering, economic, market, and policy issues associated with these functions. The conference will also present updates on the status of the various markets (including market design and operation problems and their solutions, successes, prices and costs) in North America. These markets include New England, New York, PJM, ERCOT, and Alberta. Developing markets, such as Ontario, will also be covered. The market designs encompass issues such as day-ahead scheduling, real-time operation, integration with the markets for energy and congestion, measuring the real-time delivery of these services, the operating costs to produce these services, and the potential for customer loads to supply these services.

The brochure for the Ancillary Services Conference, April 10-12, 2002, Wyndham Hotel - Tech Center, Denver, CO can be obtained by clicking on the link below:

Yesterday we received a letter from BPA under which BPA terminated two of its agreements. Ed, Harlan and I discussed some aspects of this earlier today.

Some additional information that Steve Hall and I just discussed is summarized below.

The effect of this termination on our power scheduling is that the West Desk is now short by 202 MW over its earlier position.

After termination the contract positions are:

COB: 150 MW on peak (purchase from BPA) 200 MW off-peak (purchase from BPA)

Mid-C: (339) MW on peak (delivery to BPA) (238) MW off peak (delivery to BPA)

Terminated contract numbers:

97 PB-10123 (Wauna/James River) 98 PB-10277 (Firm Power Sale)

The termination to the Wauna/James River contract presumably also terminates the "book out" agreement negotiated earlier this year, and increases our net short position to BPA.

Dear Friend and/or Colleague,

A summary of the 2001 season, real-time forecasts of Columbia River runoff made weekly with the HyMet model can be viewed at the following website:

<<http://www.hymet.com/colnex1.htm>>

These results show the accuracy of each forecast made at the three main sites (Grand Coulee, The Dalles and Lower Granite Dam on the Snake River) from January 1 to June 30, 2001, and also demonstrate the influence of abnormal precipitation and temperature during the forecast season on the accuracy.

Precipitation in the Pacific Northwest during the 2001 forecast season was near the record historic low in this region, therefore a significant fraction of the forecast error can be explained by subsequent weather conditions.

Your comments are welcome.

RTO West RRG Days Feb. 11 & 12 - Agenda

Sender	chrirtowest@earthlink.net
Recipients	['rrga-l@list.rtowest.org']
File	crandell-s/inbox/1.

Hello, Everyone -

RTO West will hold two days of meetings Monday, February 11, and Tuesday, February 12, 2002 to review, discuss and seek consensus on the draft filing that RTO West is preparing to submit to FERC. The meetings will give Regional Representatives an opportunity to prioritize and explain their key issues to the RTO West principals before the filing planned for March 1, 2002.

The meetings will be Monday, February 11, from 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and Tuesday, February 12, from 8:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at the Shilo Inn located at 11707 NE Airport Way. The Shilo Inn is about 2-3 miles east of the Portland Airport and east of I-205. From I-205 take exit 24 from the north or exit 24B from the south. If you need overnight accommodations, the Shilo Inn phone number is 503-252-7500.

The meetings will focus on discussing the substantive issues that RRG members raise during the meeting. To the extent possible, Regional Representatives are encouraged to confer with other stakeholders in developing their input. Because there is also an opportunity to submit written comments on the drafts until close of business February 15, we encourage participants to bring up substantive input at the meeting and rely on written submittals for providing detailed comments.

We recognize that there is a lot of material to cover during the two days of meetings. A proposed agenda and proposed time allocation is attached so you can estimate when topics you are interested in will come up. However, we will be as flexible as possible.

A number of the filing drafts are now posted at <<http://www.rtowest.org/DraftFilingDocforMar12002.htm>> . By the end of the day, all of the draft materials for the filing should be posted.

Sean,

Enclosed is a proposed methodology for the Dow Jones Hourly Index. Our longer term goal is to have this information posted to a website and available on an hourly basis, with perhaps a 2 or so hour delay. That will take longer to implement and some firms have expressed reservation with receiving the information too early. Presently, our goal is to have this information available to traders via email by 5:00 a.m. PT. This is preliminary and your thoughts and comments would be appreciated.

Cheers,

At Bonneville, the Corps and BPA will make best effort to spill 45 kcfs each day for 5 hours. The spill hours will be 2000 - 0100 hours, as recommended by NMFS. At The Dalles, spill will be provided on an hourly basis, when the hourly projection is 71 kcfs or greater, from a minimum 15 kcfs spill up to 30% of total discharge. Spill began at 1400 hours today at The Dalles, and is expected to begin at 2000 hours tonight at Bonneville. The action agencies may change the operation if the spill operation results in unacceptable risks to power system reliability. The Action Agencies will coordinate changes with TMT. MAGAZINE INDUSTRY WANTS TO GAIN AD WEIGHT IN 2002 By Linnea Anderson, Writer Still reeling from the one-two combination of the dot-com collapse and September 11, the magazine industry is looking to get its legs back in 2002. Here are the phone numbers you can call if you need any help this evening (or tomorrow, I'm sure).

Mike Duchow-Pressley 503.246.4862 Tom & Barbara 503.557.3371 Judy Cochran (Brian) 503.656.8659 Bruce & Becky 503.650.6500

I'll have my cell phone, but it doesn't get good reception right at the convent. If you need to get ahold of me quickly, you can call Father Theodore and get the number of the convent. His number is 503.292.3737 @ church; 503.641.2370 @ home. (His wife's name is Stacy, in case you've forgotten).

I'll print this out and leave it at home. I'll also call you and make sure you got it. Finally, I'm going to put the Voice-mail # you need to call into the phone (speed dial #2) -- then you just need to enter the security code.

See you tomorrow. I love you.

Please also make absolutely sure that this is included in the PSW build route, as we use it nearly exclusively now. Vish knows about our problems with that.

Cara:

Please see the attached email below for what IT is planning to modify Build Routing report to accomodate and differentiate DART products. From what we've discussed, you would like to have the default as with the "exclude DART deals" checked, right? Also, did you also say you want IT to create another function for this report to run DART deals only (so the report will only show DART products) so real time schedulers can run it to see what he/she needs to pick up?

Fran,

We worked on excluding the DART deals from the BuildRoute report. The report will look like that: << OLE Object: Picture (Device Independent Bitmap) >> If you have the "Exclude DART deals" box unchecked then you will get a file like this: << File: BRtestP1_3Deals_Nov26.xls >> Deal 500056.1 is a DART deal.

If you have "Exclude DART deals" box checked then you will get a file like this: << File: BRtestP2_3Deals_Nov26.xls >>

Please let me know if that's what you need to see. I can send you similar files that show more then 3 deals.

Thanks! Nikolay

The change would not take long provided if we could easily identify DART deals. At this point we will have to research identifying DART deals. We don't know the answer yet. There is a higher priority project (secondary legal entities) which we hope to complete next week. We'll schedule this change after that.

However, although the "DART flag" will be on in deal entry, I believe for now it's informational only, and it's not doing anything to alert the schedulers. We've just completed two major projects (secondary legal entity and a table collapse) which involved 100% of Nikolay's time. As of today, the DART changes are at the top of his list and he is working on it now. We'll have an update on or before Wednesday.

The change would not take long provided if we could easily identify DART deals. At this point we will have to research identifying DART deals. We don't know the answer yet. There is a higher priority project (secondary legal entities) which we hope to complete next week. We'll schedule this change after that.

Ash Grove: They are still under contract suspension, and are planning on suspending until the end of the month. Plan on delivering power starting Feb. 1. Holnam: We should be continuing to try to schedule, they will refuse thru Jan., so we should be invoicing accordingly. They will start accepting the schedule for Feb. 1 delivery. Luzenac: They have terminated their contract as of 1/9/02. So do not deliver power to them. LP: Schedule as usual. They are looking at buyout of their contracts, but in the meantime, they want power delivered.

Diana:

Today I reviewed NCPA related deals for 11/1-11/6 and found:

11/1 => good 11/2 => somehow the lightload sale side (deal 517676.1) is only showing HE1-HE6 in the scheduling system now. I wonder if someone deleted HE23-HE24 afterwards (*on the lightload purchase side we have both HE1-HE6 and HE23-HE24, deal 517673.1). 11/3 => good 11/4 => annuity missing (no power delivered) 11/5 => annuity missing (no power delivered) 11/6 => annuity missing (no power delivered)

Please let me know if you could restore the HE23-HE24 for 11/2 back in the scheduling system if they should be there, also please let me know when the missed annuities are entered. I have also attached my worksheet for your convenient reference.

Great work, team--we took the "total number of trips" category for the Bike Commute Challenge.

As a reward, we will be treated to lunch at Rock Bottom, courtesy of Enron, sometime during the month of October.

We need to pick a day when we can all get together for that lunch.

I propose one of the following dates, beginning at 11:45 a.m.:

T W Th F

16 17 18 24 25 26

Please let me know which of these dates you CANNOT make. If you have a strong preference about another date, let me know that, too. The date(s) with the the highest possible attendance wins.

All:

I recommend this presentation to traders and other folks who are involved with transmission and/or market structures. It is more likley (although far off) that the RTO West may move to a locational (nodal) marginal pricing (LMP) model, akin to the way PJM operates. Andy Ott is a key manager at PJM and this is a unique opportunity to hear how that system operates from someone who has direct experience.

Please let me know if you will go. I will be going and cam offer to drive.

Hello CMCG -

As mentioned at the recent RRG meeting, RTO West has scheduled an informational briefing about the PJM Locational Marginal Pricing (LMP) model on Tuesday afternoon, October 23, 2001, from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. PDT. The briefing will be in room F on the first floor of the Kingstad meeting center, 5933 Win Sivers Drive (off Airport Way). Hey Bruce,

Thanks for the response. I think I would like to see Cinergy's bid. I sort of have to weigh many nonfinancial issues as well. It would be nice to know where we are at. If you could provide me a rough number, that would be helpful.

Thanks,

Sean

We have not reached an answer on the head trader. McCabe is on vacation this week. I would say we are not prepared to match any of your offers. I'm not sure it makes sense to show you an offer that is lower than your other deal. If you still interested let me know. Thanks for coming to see us. We sure would love to have you on the team.

Dear Chuck, Another Congressional hearing into the Enron collapse is scheduled for next week, with the focus falling on energy. The Senate Energy Committee will look into what impact Enron's demise has had on energy markets. The Washington bureau will have complete coverage of Enron developments on Capitol Hill. The White House could find a lawsuit on its doorstep next week. General Accounting Office Comptroller General David Walker says he could decide as early as Wednesday whether to sue Vice President Cheney over the administration's decision not to turn over more information regarding the work of his energy task force. The GAO has never filed a similar lawsuit in its history, but Vice President Cheney maintains the request is inappropriate. FERC Chairman Pat Wood addresses a meeting of the American Public Power Association in Washington on Monday. The Washington bureau will have details on the APPA meeting and coverage of the regular FERC meeting on Wednesday. The FERC meeting includes a closed-door session on the start of a possible FERC investigation. There's another whistleblower in the Enron case - on Monday, the Houston bureau will speak with the attorney for a woman who says she knew there were problems at Enron. We'll also have updates on the investigation into the death of a former Enron executive. On Monday, ENL's Kym McNicholas talks to Phoenix Consulting's Susan Schneider about some recent California ISO filings with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. =09 =09 Dear Chuck, Former Enron CEO Kenneth Lay will not testify at e=ither Congressional hearing this week. Washington Bureau Chief Peter Cook =says because of Lay's decision not to appear, the Senate Commerce Committee= is expected to authorize the issuance of a subpoena to Lay as early as Tue=sday morning. Two House subcommittees could soon issue their own subpoenas= as well. =09 =09 Dear Chuck, The Senate will have the first official vote this year on comprehensive energy legislation on Monday. Senate Minority Leader Trent Lott has offered the House energy bill as an amendment to railroad legislation. Washington Bureau Chief Peter Cook says the Democratic leadership in the Senate opposes the bill and expects to prevail in voting it down. The big issue dividing the two parties is whether to open a portion of Alaska's Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to oil drilling. The vote is expected to take place at 5:00 ET on Monday and the Washington bureau will bring us the vote outcome as soon as it becomes available. Peter says the bureau will continue to follow the Enron story as it relates to Washington. Congressional hearings are now being planned to determine what went wrong and whether there could be a larger impact on the energy sector. Several federal agencies and the White House continue to monitor the situation, and we'll bring you the latest from Washington next week. On Monday from the Houston bureau, we'll follow the trail of liquid natural gas and arctic gas. Catch a report next week on how both are brought to market. The Houston bureau will continue to bring us the very latest on Enron next week as the energy giant nears bankruptcy. =09 =09 Dear Chuck, We'll have live reports from Capitol Hill on the latest Enron hearing as the Senate Energy Committee takes its first look at the energy-related questions raised by the company's collapse. Among witnesses scheduled to attend are Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Chairman Patrick Wood, Commodity Futures Trading Commission Chairman James Newsome, and Vincent Viola, the head of the NYMEX. Lawmakers are deciding whether new legislation changes may be needed in the aftermath. A legal fight is brewing between the White House and the General Accounting Office over the work of Vice President Cheney's energy task force. Cheney is refusing to release more details on with whom the task force met and the substance of those talks. The head of the GAO says he may be forced to file a lawsuit as early as Wednesday to obtain the information. Finally from Washington, President Bush will deliver his State of the Union address Tuesday evening. The Washington bureau will look at what we can expect from the speech regarding energy policy. It's earnings time, and we'll continue to check in with companies from the Houston bureau. On Tuesday during the 1:00 p.m. ET newscast, Parker Drilling Company President and CEO Robert Parker, Jr. joins us to discuss his company's fourth quarter 2001. Also, Merrill Lynch-Houston Director Carl Kirst is stopping by during the 4:00 p.m. ET newscast to bring us an analysis of a compilation of earnings, including Williams and Dynergy. We'll have more earnings reports from Tulsa as well - Williams Energy Services President and CEO Steve Malcolm will bring us his numbers firsthand from ENL headquarters during the 10:00 a.m. ET newscast. Is fuel cell technology moving fast enough? In Tuesday's special ENL Team Report, we'll take a look at fuel cells, their development, and potential for use. Houston and Sacramento profile the technology, and talk to those working with it already. West Coast Correspondent Kym McNicholas goes into the desert, where researchers are working hard to make fuel cells more practical for consumers. From our Houston bureau, Correspondent Kim Benestante shows where fuel cells are actually being used. The technology is being developed on the Gulf Coast, and is being put to use in Alaska. Don't miss this ENL Special Report on Tuesday.
