Dave, Thanks for stopping by today. I've enjoyed working with you. You're an outstanding leader, and I don't say that lightly. It's disappointing that we won't finish what we've started. However, I'm confident this will work out for the best.

Below is my contact information. If you can provide me with your contact information, I'd like to take you up on your offer to be a reference...I'll use it judiciously.

If you need someone down the road that is dedicated, capable and will get the job done, please keep me in mind.

Have a great holiday.

CONFIDENTIAL - Tennessee political contributions

File	delaine-y-d/sent/192.

Barbara, short of me coming up with the money, it will be next to impossible to get this out of either the trading or origination group. As a significant contributor to the PAC and Enron's other adventures, I don't have the room. Personally, I also have difficulty making campaign contributions so closely linked to specific legislation or policy. This may not be the answer you want; however, I am all ears if you have any ideas on raising these funds.

Barbara A Hueter@EES 10/18/2000 01:00 PM To: ddelain2@enron.com cc: Richard.Shapiro@enron.com Subject: CONFIDENTIAL - Tennessee political contributions

On September 29th I sent you an email regarding requests for personal political contributions to Tennessee lawmakers. If you or any others intend to make contributions they need to be handled as soon as possible. The election is less than 3 weeks away and the campaigns are making final decisions on media spending. Attached is a recent plea from our lobbying firm in Nashville.

The reason contributions must be personal in Tennessee is because state law prohibits contributions from corporations and from political action committees that receive financial support from corporations (Enron Corp. supports the Enron PAC by paying its expenses such as employee time, office materials, etc...). Tennessee is one of the few states to implement such a stringent campaign finance law.

The decision on whether or not to provide support for key legislators is up to the business units with interests in Tennessee.

If you need further information or would like to discuss this, you can reach me at 614-760-7472 or 614-306-4359 (cell).

Barbara, we are getting tremendous pressure for contributions in these last days before the election. As I have mentioned to you, Enron has been referred to specifically by one of the most powerful Senators. Also, Lt. Gov. Wilder's campaign chairman called me in the latter part of last week, hoping for significant financial help for end-of-campaign TV buys. Gif Thornton, Robert Gowan, and I are participating heavily; I cannot overemphasize the importance of Enron's participation. The state "money crunch" which existed this past year likely will be worse when the General Assembly reconvenes (tax collections are coming in below estimates), and all existing tax exemptions will be at significant risk. Please do what you can to get some Enron assistance for the candidates which we have discussed now. Thanks. Bill

David, i agree in principle with this process. I assume that you and your team will implement. Like we spoke about, I do not see a need to widely distribute this through the commercial organization. I would just implement.

Re: Confidential - New Procedures to be introduced by ENA OTC for Exec Employment Agreements and Hiring of Commercial Staff Below VP into ENA

Effective immediately we have asked the ENA HR department to implement the following changes to procedures to assist us in managing these two very important processes, more consistently and effectively:

Hiring of all Commercial Managers or Directors (VP process will remain as is) Business Unit leads and MD's will remain responsible for developing and pursuing speculative talent for their groups and, within their budgets, will also remain responsible for managing their overall headcount. The HR department will continue to support this effort by focusing on providing each of you with a flow of speculative resumes which you should spend time each week reviewing and providing feedback on so that this pipeline can be refined and better targeted. The interviewing process for all Commercial Managers and Directors should be very rigorous and should include at least 2 interviews by VP's in addition to the sponsoring Business Unit lead plus a minimum of 3 senior individuals within the sponsoring group (ie total of 6 in most cases). Effective immediately, once the sponsoring group lead has completed their interviewing process and would like to extend an offer of employment, the candidate must be interviewed by the ENA OTC, before an offer of employment will be released by the HR department. No candidates should be referred to the ENA OTC for interview before the sponsoring group has concluded and resolved ALL issues surrounding whether they themselves wish to hire the candidate. Since any offer of employment at Commercial Manager or Director will now be contingent upon approval by the ENA OTC, candidates expectations should be managed to ensure they appreciate this final interview will be necessary. John Lavorato has agreed to conduct the majority of these interviews, which will be co-ordinated via your HR representative. Where the candidate is out of town, these will be conducted via telephone.

Executive Employment Agreement Process for Commercial Staff Effective immediately, the process for identifying and negotiating Executive Employment Agreements for Commercial staff at ENA will be modified as follows: For all Commercial staff, the sponsoring Business Unit lead or Managing Director, should agree in principle the need for a contract with John Lavorato of the ENA OTC. This request should be by either email or voicemail and should include the following information: (1) Name, (2) Level (3) Business focus and/or project (4) Their latest 2 PRC results (5) The reason or justification for offering them a contract. In any other instance (ie non-commercial employees), the sponsoring BU lead or MD should contact David Oxley, Wholesale Group VP for HR for direction. Once the ENA OTC has approved in principle the negotiation of a contract, your HR representative listed below will assist you in preparing draft financial terms on the familiar contract request form. Before a draft contract will be prepared by the ENA legal team, the financial terms (the request form in other words) must be approved by John Lavorato in the ENA OTC. In the event of a tight deadline, John may approve the two steps described here at 1 and 4 simultaneously by email or voicemail. Any subsequent changes in terms must also be approved by the ENA OTC before a fresh draft will be produced.

The following HR Representatives will assist you with these new procedures:

Dave, Just a heads-up - it sounds like the Tammy structure may get highlighted to the Creditors Committee soon because of the expected sale of the Indian E&P assets. I believe this will bring focus on the value of assets held in Tammy. To the extent that there are any assets within Tammy that you believe may be candidates for the Newco you are considering, it would be good to identify them early - before everyone starts focusing on how much they might bring in liquidation. In addition to the Indian E&P assets, I am aware of the following assets within the two Tammy structures: * Option to acquire EREC (This option will probably be rejected) * A portion of the East Coast Power investment (may be a note) * Stock of EOG Resources (subject to a FAS 125 Transaction- no economic interest) * Stock of LNG Power (Atlantic) Ltd. that I am told includes Ecoelectrica * Option to acquire Portland General Stock Other assets may be included. Please contact me if you have any questions. I plan to be out this week, but will be checking voicemail (858-704-3302).

Happy Holidays,

Joel

Houston Meeting

Tom , I appreciate the e-mail - sorry for the delay in response.

I am on-side with all your points. On the New Albany retrofit, I want to ensure that I am not replacing one patent problem with another so a clear "title" up front on the new equipment will be important. However, I will be interested in hearing your solution especially if it can further reduce NOX and increase our operating hours.

I share your interest in the FT-4 project hopefully we can take that to the next level.

Please stay in contact.

Dave,

Thank you for taking the time to discuss the issues and opportunities facing our companies. I did not expect to have such an audience. I came seeking business advice on the litigation and feel I accomplished a lot more. I apologize for not contacting you directly, but I was unaware that you were now responsible for all of the groups within ENA. Congratulations !!!!!

Here is what I came away with:

Litigation GE has proposed a settlement that includes a proposed press release unacceptable to PSM. I have our attorneys working on drafting a response to GE and pursuing the possibility of eliminating the joint press release altogether. If common ground cannot be reached we will pursue other legal options.

Private Placement The book has been released to Enron & Calpine. I understand your position concerning participation and the question of the ongoing litigation. I am very open to the additional warrant option. Mike Miller talked to me about it after the meeting and we will discuss it next week.

New Albany Retrofit I have asked my engineers to formulate a plan to upgrade the units at New Albany with our latest 6 ppm liners and fuel nozzles. We are currently manufacturing a full set for a 7EA machine. We haven't firmed up the test dates but we need to seek approval by ENA & OEC to use one of the Doyle machines. This is a significant leap in technology that many of our clients are extremely interested in. We now have the only single digit dry low Nox system that can be used on multiple machine types to include Westinghouse 501D5A, ABB 11 N1/N2, GE F6 / F7.

FT4 Mobile Unit I understand from Mike Miller you want to slow the pace down on the first ten units to "Learn out" the manufacturing and business process. This will ease our pain level on schedule. My engineering staff is very excited with this program because it involves aircraft engines and they can apply their true skills. We just hired the program manager named George Kirsby. He is currently in charge of the $4 billion Joint Strike Fighter engine design program for Pratt Whitney / Boeing. I figure he should be able to manage the mobile unit project. At some time in the near future I would like to arrange a program presentation for you in Houston. I need to give Kirsby a few weeks to get his arms around the project and will propose dates for you in the future. We need to expedite the formation of the Joint Venture company as we are already being approached with deals to place these units.

I really value your support and you can always count on our loyalty to Enron.
