THE JANUARY EFFECT DID IT START THIS SPRING? by Kansas City Board of Trade, Kansas City, Missouri

(December, 2000) When we embarked into the year 2000, industry analysts questioned whether the phenomenon known as the January Effect would occur as many changes were in store. There were many questions about Y2K and any technical glitches that might appear. Thankfully, there were not any problems, but a very different year was in store for the markets...

PARTIAL OUTLINE OF FEATURED ARTICLES IN CURRENT ISSUE OF CONSENSUS FUTURES AND FINANCIAL WEEKLY:

WILL THE ELECTION EVER END? by AIC Investment Advisors, Inc.

(December 4, 2000) For millions of Americans familiar with hotly contested presidential election campaigns and then the concession speech by the loser, either election night or the following day, the current morass in Florida is astonishing.
Surrounded by seemingly battalions of lawyers of whom many are nothing more than town-hall hangers-on, the battle in various courts seems to stretch to the horizon...

SOYBEAN PRICES: HEADED HIGHER by Richard A. Brock & Associates, Inc.

(December 1, 2000) Despite the fact a record amount of soybeans were harvested in both North and South America in 2000, and Brazil and Argentina are both set to produce another record crop, soybean prices have been working higher the past few weeks. How can prices move higher if the world is awash in soybeans?..

OPTIONS FOCUS by Salomon Smith Barney

(November 2000) Stock index futures and options provide investors with efficient tools to help minimize losses in a declining stock market. If the price correlation of a stock portfolio and the index futures used as a hedge is high, the risk on that equity portion protected by the futures could be neutralized or its exposure reduced against the effects of a market decline or advance...

Thank you for reading the CONSENSUS Market Advisory Newsletter. In the future we plan to include special offers, Serving Futures Traders Since 1987 FORTUCAST PICK OF THE WEEK, 1/18/02 STOCKS AND MARCH S & P: (01/18) Stocks still have not rallied enough to confirm that the current downside correction is over. We may have to wait until Jan. 22-23 for a bottom to finish, and it still could be all the way at 1121 on S & P futures or max. 1112. We expect that once this correction is over, the market should recover into Feb. 8 or so. If the rally is not impulsive enough and remains corrective, we will remain open to a low into Feb. 22. Worst downside is a move back to 9481 on DOW cash, with support at 9642 on DOW cash and 1530 on NASDAQ 100 cash. LONGER TERM: We are projecting NASDAQ 100 to 2450 and the S & P futures to 1400. This should take until Dec. 2002 to completely manifest, with a secondary high into March 2003. There could be a rocky period into May 2002 but then strong upside into Sept. 2002 and continuing higher into Dec. 2002. Swing Trade of the Week: Shorting Bonds into Jan. 23-24. Bonds have confirmed an important retracement high at the 104.11 region. Retracements into Feb. 23-24 should be used to accumulate put positions and short futures positions, using stops above 104.21. Next swing low should be at least Feb. 11. Downside target forthcoming. Longer term weekly charts project much lower prices into Dec. 2001.

Weekly Humor: A Call From Teacher Sarah and Louise met for lunch the other day. While discussing their children, Sarah said, "My son's teacher called me last night." In a concerned tone, Louise replied, "Uh-oh! Is something wrong?" Sarah explained that the teacher had told her that her son was failing math. "That's terrible!" said Louise, "Did she tell you what to do to help him?" "Yeah," said Sarah, "she told me to stop doing his homework."

Greenspan obviously sees a bumpy road ahead...

Greenspan obviously sees a bumpy road ahead as he lowers interest rates again. This is causing an abrupt stock market rally. The energy markets are off precipitously! We seem to have located 7 million barrels of crude somewhere making people believe inflation is at bay. Our belief is that this will be short lived as energy consumption continues to increase going into the summer months. Bad earnings, consumer confidence, and other related news should remind investors where this market is going over time!

Weekly Humor: How Deep It Is

An American tourist was visiting a small village in Ireland when there was a sudden gust of wind which blew his hat off into the middle of a nearby pond.

Walking over to a young boy who was sitting beside the pond, the tourist asked, "Say, son, how deep is this pond?"

"Oh, only a few inches," replied the boy.

After taking his shoes off and rolling his trousers up over his knees, the tourist stepped into the pond to retrieve his hat and, within a few seconds, was completely submerged in the water. Swimming out to the middle of the pond he finally reached his hat, and then struggled back to edge.

Climbing out, he turned towards the boy and screamed, "Hey you, I thought you said that pond was only a few inches deep!"

"Well," shrugged the boy, "the water only comes half way up that duck over there."

The Dow was the undisputed leader except for the NYSE index which managed to make new all-time highs. Of course, the NYSE is still trading at the 600+ level, having missed most of the 18-year surge that took place in the other major averages... EURO/YEN: EURO UNDERVALUED BY 30% LONG-DATED FORWARDS PREDICT FURTHER EURO SLIDE by Deutsche Bank AG Foreign Exchange Research Department (June 1, 2001) The recent decline in the Euro's value has once again pushed the new single European currency into significantly undervalued territory versus the U.S. Dollar. According to our purchasing power parity (PPP) estimates, the Euro is presently undervalued by nearly 30% versus the dollar. Historically, PPP undervaluations of this magnitude are not often sustainable. As Figure 1 shows, when the Euro has moved more than +/-20% out of line with its long-run PPP valuation, it has eventually set forces in motion to reverse the currency misalignment... THE NEXT GLOBAL GROWTH DERBY HAS BEGUN by Merrill Lynch & Co. Global Securities Research & Economics Group (May 31, 2001) The stage is set for the next global growth derby. That stage, of course, was built on the aggressive reduction in short-term interest rates around the globe. All major central banks have recently cut interest rates in response to the surprisingly rapid deterioration of the global economy since the fourth quarter of last year... WILD MARKETS AHEAD by Richard A. Brock & Associates, Inc. (May 25, 2001) Actually, there have been some wild markets behind as well. These have not been easy markets and we don't expect the trends to get any easier in the weeks ahead. Current weakness in the grain markets has certainly turned attitudes negative among most producers. But before everyone throws in the towel, remember a couple of things:... Happy Thanksgiving everyone!!!

It is now time to sell Eurodollars (not the Euro Currency). Sell June 2002, September 2002, December 2002, March 2003 or June 2003. We DO NOT think Mr. Greenspan is going to lower interest rates any more. Morgan Stanley announced today that they believe the employment situation is not going to be as bad as once thought. Consumer confidence is coming back. Our predictions are that companies became "lean and mean" and will show profits in the first quarter of 2002. Check out the chart and see if you come up with the same conclusion. You make the call! Dec 2002 Eurodollar Chart (Click for Chart Update)

Andrew Lewis sent the following:

Name: Andrew Lewis Email Address: Andrew.H.Lewis@enron.com Subject: Confirmation

Address: 1400 Smith Street

City: Houston State: TX Zip: 77002 Office Phone Number: 713-853-6278 Home Phone Number: 713-623-8922 Date of Flight: November 21, 2001 Flight Number: 482 From City: Houston To City: Boston OnePass Account Number: FY900877

Dear Gordon, Let me help you improve Continental: I have called customer service three times in order to receive a confirmation of my upcoming flight. I have asked for an eticket confirmation sent to me via regular mail and an e-mail. My flight is now nine days away, and I still haven't received any confirmation. If you can't handle the simple task of sending a letter or an e-mail, how can I trust you to run an airline?

This is not the first time I have had problems with your company. After having used the online services of American; United; and Continental, I have found your service to be vastly inferior.

Although it is difficult to avoid Continental when flying out of Houston, I am going to do my best from now on. Would you like a response from someone at Continental? Yes

Dear Trader:

Some of our readers experienced some difficulty yesterday with the link to the audio interview.

Below please find the direct link to Michael Pinson's interview with Liberty Trading President James Cordier in which the concept of option selling and Liberty Trading's option selling method is discussed in depth.

If you do not have Real Player you can download it once you link to the site.

If you have an interest in writing options, we think you will find the Radio Show very interesting.

Feel free to call with questions.

Sincerely, James Cordier Michael Gross Liberty Trading Group 800-346-1949

From: Jenna Myers Scouting Report

Subject: You are the first to know.

Sponsored by TechnoScout, where technology hits home.

Here at TechnoScout, we work hard to bring you products now, that you will not see in stores for months. It is our promise to you to keep you up-to-date of the neatest, coolest, latest high-tech gear every month. Take a look at some of the products below that made our list of some of the best products to cross our rigorous testing and analyzing this month.

Photos, music, important documents? Now that everything is on your computer, copy it The EPO CD Backup Duplicator makes flawless copies of any format CD, including audio, data or video.

To make backup copies of CDs, you typically need a CD reader (CD-ROM) for the source disk you are copying, a CD burner (CD-R or CD-RW) to write the copy CD, and a computer with appropriate software to format the files. The EPO CD Backup Duplicator does it all-easily and automatically-without the need of a computer. Most duplicating procedures may not be able to copy certain protected files. But CD Backup uses a technology called "image copy" to duplicate the exact same data found on the original disk. The EPO CD Backup can flawlessly duplicate any format of compact disk, even protected ones (see warning below). The CD Backup is the right choice for excellent accuracy. You can use CD Backup to copy important data and application files for safe storage. And you can use the duplicator to create your own personal audio disks from tracks taken from your own personal CD collection.* To find out more about this must-have product, click here: <http://offer.technoscout.com/cgi-bin10/flo?y=eOKb0DIbdP0Gcm0eTw0Au>

Disclaimer: EPO CD Back-up should be used only for backing up personal data and compiling personal audio tracks. Any copyright of material in a source disk belongs to the author and/or company which issued the disk. Unauthorized duplication of copyrighted material is strictly prohibited.

Weekly Top Picks:

Nostalgia Music System 'Peggy Sue' never sounded so good! The Nostalgia Music System starts your day off right with your favorite CD music, all in a retro cabinet design that will take you back to the "good old days."

Innovative stereo breaks the sound (and size) barrier

Sender	scouting_report@offer.technoscout.com
Recipients	['h..lewis@enron.com']
File	lewis-a/deleted_items/256.

Jenna Myers Scouting Report January 2002 Sponsored by TechnoScout, Where technology hits home.

Imagine this. You lean back in your seat as the symphony begins. The overture begins by the string section, with a soothing melody. In comes the brass, with high, piercing treble, followed by percussion, with teeth-rattling bass. Your eyes closed, you sink into your chair and let the rich sound fill your head. Suddenly, the phone on your desk rings. You realize you are not at Carnegie Hall, you're at your office? and that's not a symphony orchestra, it's the new Aiwa Digital Audio System. <http://offer.technoscout.com/cgi-bin10/flo?y=eN8y0DIbdP0GZt0eGW0AC>

Can you experience surround sound using just two speakers? Q-Surround proves it's possible. Using unique signal processing algorithms based on advanced psychoacoustics, Q-surround circuitry creates a "phantom" center channel, expands the front left and right soundfield and places "virtual" surround speakers around you to simulate the effect of a multi-channel system. Aiwa portable stereos with Q-Surround are capable of delivering a rich, all-encompassing soundfield that recreates the "you are there" experience as no conventional compact two-speaker system can.

Superior design, surprising sound. The Aiwa Digital Audio System

<http://offer.technoscout.com/cgi-bin10/flo?y=eN8y0DIbdP0GZt0eGW0AC> synthesizes the latest acoustic technology with practical features and attractive design. The wood cabinet blends with nearly any decor, and its robust construction results in enhanced sound reproduction. Independent, tuned bass reflex speaker enclosures provide tighter bass response, and the 3/4-inch baffle board helps eliminate any resonance within the speaker enclosure. It features 10 Watts per Channel (20 total), and the Super T-Bass delivers deep and powerful bass sound without the "boominess" that characterizes systems with less sophisticated low-frequency enhancement circuits. That's because Super T-Bass was specifically engineered to improve the low-end performance of small speakers, taking into account their particular resonance characteristics.

Cutting-edge commitment. Since being founded in 1951, Aiwa has been a leader in the field of consumer electronics and acoustic technology. This explains the company's record of "firsts," including making Japan's first cassette tape recorder, Japan's first stereo cassette deck, the first company to manufacture digital audio tape (DAT) products, the first to market a recording headphone stereo and a leader in mini-systems. This same commitment to cutting edge technology has enabled Aiwa to create the gold standard in portable CD stereos.

Great sound is only the beginning. The Aiwa Digital Audio System <http://offer.technoscout.com/cgi-bin10/flo?y=eN8y0DlbdP0GZt0eGW0AC> also incorporates the latest features for functionality and convenience. The Full Logic Mechanism with Auto-Reverse provides for smoother, less clumsy operation. Unlike many comparable units made by other manufacturers, this one is compatible with CDs made with a recorder or computer, like CD-R/RW. The CD player has Repeat, Random and Programmed play, and the AM/FM Stereo has 30-station preset memory and Digitally Synthesized tuning for locking in stations. There is even a preset equalizer with selectable modes for Pop, Rock and Jazz.

Try it factory-direct, risk-free. Thanks to our special relationship with the manufacturer, we can offer it with a special payment plan and our exclusive risk-free trial. Order today, and if you are not completely satisfied for any reason, simply return it within 30 days for a full refund of the purchase price.

Call toll-free 24 hours a day 1-800-566-4157 and mention promotional code 80492.

InternetStudios Entertainment Finance Closes Film Financings

LOS ANGELES, Dec 13, 2000 -- InternetStudios.com, Inc. (OTCBB:ISTS), the global filmed entertainment company that operates online, via its two main sites OnlineFilmandTVSales.com and reportertv.com, is delighted to announce that its newly created InternetStudios Entertainment Finance ("IEF") subsidiary, headed up by film financing specialist, Robert Beattie, has already completed its first two transactions.

InternetStudios launched IEF in September to provide interim financing for the production of films. IEF has already expanded by completing two deals to finance and produce a series of motion pictures through the official Czech-Canada production treaty. The pictures will be shot in Prague.

The inaugural film, Ariana's Quest, from North American Pictures and Forgotten Kingdom Productions, stars female WWF Champion Rena Mero, (formerly known as "Sable"), and has recently gone into postproduction. As part of the arrangements between IEF and the producers, this film will be promoted and sold exclusively over the internet via OnlineFilmandTVSales.com. The InternetStudios group of companies has also retained the Internet rights to the picture for possible webcasts in the future.

IEF has also signed a further agreement with North American Pictures and North American Releasing to produce and finance several further independent pictures, beginning with the action, adventure picture Omega Force, which commences shooting in Prague during January 2001.

Rob Maclean, Chairman, InternetStudios comments:

"These transactions represent the beginning of the tremendous opportunities that we have identified for IEF. We will continue to build our company based on our focus of working with our clients to take advantage of a variety of funding sources, including international tax motivated sources, foreign subsidies and co-production treaties to ensure we fully maximize the available financing for the producer and launch these productions in the most financially efficient manner.

"Not only does IEF represent a further source of revenue to our company, it also provides our clients with another source of product unique to InternetStudios. These deals and the partnerships that Robert Beattie is creating for this company through his vast banking experience and international focus will contribute to the growth of InternetStudios and benefit the international independent film industry."

IEF works with producers and sales agents and makes available both conventional and gap financing. The Company has relationships with a number of private funding sources and significant institutional investors who provide the necessary capital.
