Dear Mr. Reeves,

As per our conversation, could you please forward this e-mail to Dr. Leerburger. Thank you for your help.

Lawrence May 14542 Kentley Orchard Ln. Cypress, Texas 77429 Home: 281 379-1525 email: ljmMay@aol.com Work: 713 853-6731 email: larry.may@enron.com

Dear Dr. Leerburger,

I am a part-time student at American Military University in the MA program in Intelligence Studies. Currently, I am enrolled in Dr. Lockwood's Analytic Methods course. I have been planning to finish my MA (I have an MBA from the University of Washington as well) in three years and then begin a second career in intelligence analysis (I am currently an Energy commodities trader with Enron Corp in Houston, Texas). However, with the events on Sept. 11, I wish to apply now for a position. If it is convenient, I would like to discuss career opportunities in government service with you. Attached are the cover letter and resume I have already sent the DIA and NSA. Given the events of the last few weeks, I know you must be extremely busy and appreciate any time you may spare.

Sincerely,

Lawrence J. May

Dear Dr. Leerburger,

Thank you for your response. As I wrote in my earlier note, I am seeking a career change into intelligence analysis. My work the last eleven years probably has a similar skill set - I basically process a great deal of information each day in order to arrive at decisions positioning a large commodity portfolio for my company. As you may see from my resume and cover letter, I also have several years of military experience in the Navy's aviation and intelligence communities

Given the serious nature of this career change, I wish to speak to someone currently working in this field (I read your biography on the AMU website). My questions include:

- Do you find the work to be rewarding? What are the attractions and frustrations of the work? - Does my current background make me an attractive candidate for a mid-level position in the intelligence community? - If my background is currently lacking in some respects, would a graduate level program (I'm applying to both the DIA JMIC program and Georgetown's Security Studies MA program) be a good choice? How do these programs rate within the intelligence community?

If convenient, I would like to speak with you concerning these questions. I thank you for any assistance you may provide.

Sincerely,

Lawrence May 14542 Kentley Orchard Ln. Cypress, Texas 77429 Home: 281 379-1525 email: ljinmay@aol.com Work: 713 853-6731 email: larry.may@enron.com

SMALL STRAWS IN A SOFT WIND

Words from the Lord to Marsha Burns

May 23, 2001: I speak to those who have touched what is unclean by partaking of spiritual deadness. You have inadvertently participated and shared in death by allowing those around you who are self-focused and apostate to drain the life out of you. You have asked Me why you are so dry and lack spiritual vitality. It is because you have touched what is dead and religious and have become defiled. I say to you that you must wash yourselves through repentance. Rise up in newness and life; be partakers of My Spirit. 2 Corinthians 6:17 Therefore "Come out from among them and be separate, says the Lord. Do not touch what is unclean, and I will receive you."

Dear AMU Student:

Thank you registering for classes at AMU. This e-mail is your confirmation that we have received your registration and that you are enrolled in one or more courses. We wish you the best of luck in your class.

To ensure that you are properly prepared for your course, there are three (3) more quick things you need to do:

Step 1: If Eligible, Get Tuition Assistance

If you have not already done so, you will need to go to your Education Center or Human Resource Office to get completed Tuition Assistance (TA) paperwork. In order for your TA paperwork to be completed by your ESO or HR professional and accepted by AMU, the following information must be correct:

- Course Number and Title
- Course Start and End dates
- The amount per credit hour ($250 per semester hour).

Please know that Tuition Assistance Regulations require that we not provide access to the Student Course Guide until the AMU Financial Aid Office has received your completed TA paperwork. TA paperwork may be faxed to 703-330-5109 and is required before the start date of the semester. If you encounter any problems with your TA paperwork please immediately send an e-mail to hstine@amunet.edu or call (703) 330 - 5398 ext 117.

Step 2: Order Your Books

In order to provide the best possible customer service and to allow students to track the status of their book shipments, AMU changed its book ordering process effective April 9, 2001. It is now requested that student contact MBS directly to order books.

Undergraduate Students participating in the AMU Book Grant*, need to order books as soon as possible by calling MBS after registering for their classes. Ordering is easy:

Call 1-800-325-3252

Give Customer Service your name, and the AMU course(s) you=01,re taking.

Step 3. Tell MBS what address to ship your books to - and you=01,re done.

After MBS has confirmed your book order, you will be issued a UPS tracking number that you can use to check to the status of your book(s). If you encounter any problems with your book shipment, or if your book(s) do not arrive, you will need to contact MBS at the number listed above (please note that APO/FPO shipping times generally take longer than regular CONUS mail so please order your books as soon possible).

MBS can be reached toll free 1-800-325-3252 during the following hours (Central Time):

Monday - Thursday 7 am - 10 PM

Friday 7 am - 6 PM

Saturday 8 am - 5 PM

Sunday 12pm - 4 PM

All foreign or APO/FPO students may want to use the MBS commercial number which is (573) 441-9179.

Graduate students are required to purchase their books. You may order books from our preferred provider, MBS Direct, by going to <http://direct.mbsbooks.com/amu.htm>. If you order your books on-line, MBS discounts the UPS shipping charges by 20%. You can also call MBS toll-free at: 800-325-3252. For more information on shipping charges to foreign addresses, you can contact MBS at 573-446-5299. Please know that the standard shipping time for books is 5 business days so please remember to order your books as soon as possible before the start of your class.

Step 3: Maintain Your Student ID and Password

Your Student ID and password are your keys to access the Electronic Classroom. If you have do not remember or if you have lost your Student ID and password, please immediately send an e-mail to techsupport@amunet.edu.

Complete these 3 steps and you'll be on your way to success. If you have any questions or need any assistance, please contact the registrar at (703) 330-5398 ext 104.

Best of luck to you in your courses!

Sincerely,

AMU Office of Student Services & Technology

* if you were a student prior to February 1999, and were allowed to continue under the old tuition rate, you must still purchase your own book either through MBS or another book vendor as the AMU Book Grant will not cover the cost your books.

Hi Jeff, thanks for the opportunity to talk to your group. FYI, I recently talked to Vince Kaminiski (my former boss) while seeking advice on a career move that I feel I must make soon. Vince suggested that I talk to John Lavorato directly to explore opportunities in gas and electricity trading as well as crude. As a result, I have sent my information directly to John as well. Currently, my discussions are predominantly with the crude desk via Bill White.

Here is quick background of my education and experience (detailed resume attached) to provide a basis for my with your group next couple of days.

I am currently a director of trading at EBS responsible for the data storage desk. I work in Paul Racicot's organization within EBS. I am looking to expand my quantitative and commercial skills into core franchise of Enron businesses and would appreciate an opportunity to talk to you regarding a position in the gas trading business.

This past weekend was the MS 150 bike tour from Houston to Austin. This was my third year riding in the event, and it keeps getting better every year.

We started out bright and early on Saturday morning with some 9,500 other riders eager to make the 175 mile trip to Austin. Team Enron was first out of the gate again this year. The course was more congested than last year because of the huge increase in ridership. The event has been growing 20 percent each year. The crowd started to thin out after about 15 miles, and it was smooth sailing until lunch in Bellville. After a quick sandwich, I was on my way again to LaGrange. There were a few more hills this year than last, and the wind started to pick up towards the end. Visions of a cold Miller Lite and a relaxing message inspired me onward. I arrived in LaGrange about 1:15, plenty of time to shower and relax in the tent before Enron's famous barbecue dinner.

The next morning, we awoke bright and early to the call to the MS Society's pancake breakfast. Getting up at 5am and back on your bike after having ridden 100 miles the previous day was no fun task, but everything was fine after about 10 miles. Sunday morning was fairly uneventful until the infamous Bastrop State Park with its killer hills. After the park was lunch, then the homestretch to Austin. This year we had a nice tailwind to help us along.

Last year, with the support of people like you, the Texas MS society raised over $3.5 million for multiple sclerosis research. This year, we will certainly break through that goal. Each of us probably know at least one person touched by this terrible disease, and this money goes a long way towards finding a cure.

If I haven't already collected your pledge, I'd appreciate it if you'd drop it by. For those of you not on 45, I'll stop by your floor sometime next week. Thank you for your support!

I apologize for the problems you are still having. I have talked to the product set-up group, within PCG, and they assured me that this would be set-up at the end of business today. I will ask them to leave you a voice mail after they have made the appropriate changes. Please call me if you have any questions.

It appears our EOL problem has not been resolved. According to Larry, his straddle products are not being booked correctly in TAGG. Specifically TAGG deal#Y99608.1 has only the call leg of the straddle. Would you please check into this and let Larry or myself know what we can do to resolve this issue.

Thanks for your quick response to this problem.

It will have to be someone from conformations. We never interact with the customer. Also, This fix will only affect deals on a go forward basis. All the deals that have been booked incorrectly will need to be fixed by risk. Myself, and Tagg IT are still working on the issue, and will be in contact with you as soon as it has been fixed. Please let me know,

Dear Dr. Lucas,

I am a part-time student at American Military University in the MA program in Intelligence Studies. Currently, I am enrolled in Dr. Lockwood's Analytic Methods course. I have been planning to finish my MA (I have an MBA from the University of Washington as well) in three years and then begin a second career in intelligence analysis (I am currently an Energy commodities trader with Enron Corp in Houston, Texas). However, with the events on Sept. 11, I wish to apply now for a position. If it is convenient, I would like to discuss career opportunities in government service with you. Attached are the cover letter and resume I have already sent the DIA and NSA. Given the events of the last two weeks, I know you must be extremely busy and appreciate any time you may spare.

Sincerely,

Lawrence J. May Wk. 713 853-6731 email larry.may@enron.com Hm. 281 379-1525 email ljnmay@aol.com

Hi Larry!

How are you? A little time has passed since I was last on the trading floor of what was Enron. Hope you're hanging in there okay. => I'd just been enjoying the holidays and the time off up until last week when I started really hitting the job hunt. I talked to you about a month ago at the Front Porch about a publishing contact you had in New York and was wondering if you would pass that information along? And if you know of anyone who's looking for analyst help, I hope you will keep me in mind and pass my name along. Thanks so much, Larry. My best to you and your family for the New Year.

Hello from George

Dear Mr. Shimaitis: My name is George Huan. I am a Trading Associate at Enron North America. I will be laid off tomorrow. Larry May referred me to you. I joined Enron's Associate program in August, 2000 after receiving my MBA from UT Austin. Before that I traded metals in China. Because of outstanding performance at Enron, I was selected to join the Trading Track - a unique program to train future traders. All Trading Track associates rotate through several trading related function areas: risk management, structuring, fundamental analysis, and/or logistics, eventually leading to a trader position. Only 13 out of 380 associates were selected. I am proud to be one of them. As a trading associate, I worked closely with traders on deal structuring and pricing. I also administrated Larry's risk book for six months and learned a great deal from him on option valuation and portfolio management. I enjoyed my work tremendously. Unfortunately, my rotations at Enron went to pieces with the fall of Enron. I am writing to explore the possibility of working at Dynegy. I would appreciate an opportunity to meet with you and discuss further about how my experience will best meet the needs of Dynegy. Thanks for your time and consideration. Sincerely yours, George Huan (713) 682-6005 (H) (281) 451-5062 (M)

Subject: Houston Ballet's Miller Theater Performance of Coppelia

Houston Ballet gives free performances of Coppelia at Miller Outdoor Theatre in Hermann Park 8:00 p.m. Friday May 11, Saturday May 12, & Sunday May 13, 2001 sponsored by AZURIX and ENRON

Considered the great comedy of classical ballet, Coppelia tells the story of a doll so enchantingly lifelike that she mesmerizes an entire village, captures the heart of a young swain named Franz and inspires the eccentric toymaker Dr. Coppélius to attempt to transform her into a living, breathing human being.

AZURIX and ENRON are Corporate Sponsors for Houston Ballet's Miller Theatre performances, helping to present these free performances of Coppelia to the people of Houston. Houston Ballet has a limited number of tickets for the seated area each night for employees of AZURIX and ENRON. These tickets are available on a first-come, first-served basis by calling William at 713-535-3235 no later than 5 PM today . (Please be aware that all unoccupied seats are released at 10 minutes before curtain.)

Other, free, general public tickets for the seated area (max 4 per person) are available at the Miller Theatre 11:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. on the day of performance; for more information call 713-284-8351 for the Miller Theatre ticket information line. Tickets are not required for the lawn area.

About Coppelio Coppelia was first performed on May 25, 1870 at the Theatre Impérial de l'Opéra, featuring choreography by Arthur Saint-Léon and music by Léo Delibes. The work maintains a special place in the history of dance, serving as a kind of bridge from the glory of the French Romantic ballet in the early nineteenth century to the masterpieces of the Russian Imperial Theater at the turn of the century. Writing in The International Dictionary of Ballet, critic Karen Dacko analyzes the unique characteristics of the piece as follows: "Coppelia owes its longevity to its inspired, very danceable score. But the ballet is also remarkable for its perennial appeal and for its historical significance as Romanticism's grand finale and classical ballet's prologue." Coppelia first entered Houston Ballet' repertoire in October 1974, in a staging by Frederic Franklin (who also performed the role of Dr. Coppélius), and featuring scenery by Peter Farmer. In November 1979, former Royal Ballet ballerina Anne Heaton re-staged the work for the company. When Houston Ballet premiered its new production of the work in March 1992 featuring breathtaking décor by Desmond Heeley, Carl Cunningham of The Houston Post wrote, "It would be hard to imagine anything to cap the joyous, gentle, and glorious looking new production of Coppelia the splendidly prepared company of dancers and musicians put forth Thursday evening on Wortham Center's Brown Theater stage." (The Houston Post, March 21, 1992) Heeley's designs for Coppelia never fail to enchant, most notably in the second-act depiction of Dr. Coppélius's workshop. The sampling of dolls on display pay homage to the era when automatons, or mechanical toys, were the rage in Europe -- and to Heeley's inexhaustible creativity. Among the eye-popping toys featured in the workshop are a huge astrologer with a pointed hat and a robe covered in shooting stars and moons; a strongman with a handlebar mustache and barbells; Puss n Boots; an acrobat hanging from a trapeze holding the man in the moon; and a small ballerina dancing on the back of a goat. In the first act, the vibrant reds, golds, and oranges of the costumes worn by the peasants in the village conjure up a wonderfully picturesque vision of nineteenth century Bavaria.
