Mo,

I understand how broker dinners can be, but hope you can make it anyway. It was great getting to know you. Too bad we didn't hang out more this past year! Keep in touch, and be sure to give me the updates on the cooking career. I'm coming back to TX as soon as you open your restaurant. I don't have my new address in Boston yet, but my email is bthoskins@hotmail.com. You can always catch up with me at my parents' house: 5200 Boulder Ct. Louisville, KY 40207, 502-895-0980. Hope the trading is going well.

Brian

Hey there,

I have a broker dinner on thurs. These things can drag out...so I'm not sure I'll be able to stop by. Best of luck in school. I enjoyed hanging out with you the short time we knew each other. Forward me your new email address when you get one. I'll write you if I take the plunge and reverse the long trading/short cooking spread. Who knows. Take care,

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

It's been a great run at Enron and Houston, but after three wonderful years, it's time to say goodbye. As most of you know, I'm headed off to Harvard Business School this fall. I have truly enjoyed getting to know each of you, and I'll miss you next year. I want to wish you the best of luck and future success. I'm leaving Houston next Friday, but I would like one last chance to say goodbye.

Please join me this Thursday, May 31 at Teala's (3210 West Dallas) from 6-10pm for a Farewell Happy Hour. I hope to see you there!

Todd is trying to reserve a large (sleeps 16 comfortably) cabin on Lake Travis around the 4th of July holiday. The 4th is on a Wednesday this year so he'll probably reserve it through the proceeding or following weekend. I'm just trying to get a head count for now so anyone interested please let me know.

We rented this place a couple years ago and had a great time. It's located on the lake and has a private boat dock. Todd will most likely have his boat for skiing and cruising the lake. Other activities include Jet Ski rental, wind surfing rental, sun bathing, cooking out, and drinking.

I guess the next thing we would need to find out is how many people would be interested in staying at the house. Can you send Mark a note and let me know how many of the folks in H-town would be interested and for what days?

Yes and no. I think in many ways he is very similar to us. This is the lifestyle he has always led since college. To settle down and lay roots somewhere is something that I know from talking with him pulls at his conscience often, that he wants at many levels....but is unfamiliar and therefore scary for him to consider doing.

Just like our desire to live that kind of lifestyle...seemingly free, having only enough money to get you to the next destination...is extinguished by our practicality about things like retirement...providing for a family...and having money to do things that require money to do like ski trips, alaska, etc.

I think this just goes to show how difficult it is to make major lifestyle changes that go against years of living and thinking differently. Not just adapting to new creature comforts but changing one's mindset...which is scary...and difficult.

More than you bargained for in a response eh? We are leaving here at 11ish..the flight leaves at 1pm. I'll give you a call before we board the plane. L-mo.

We should talk soon and it actually won't be that long before I come into town again. I'll be down the weekend of May 12 that Thursday night and nothing would make me happier than to spend a chunk of the afternoon at The Ale House again. A few beers always helps these kinds of conversations because they are difficult emotional things to think about and that is best done if you are willing to let your guard down. I have been thinking a lot about my relationship and what it means to me and I would love to share if you are willing to listen. You haven't slowed the traveling down at all I see...all I claim in terms of travel are weekly trips to lovely suburban New Jersey. Enjoy the Derby (if it wasn't this past weekend and I'll talk to you soon)

peace, love and flowers

Hey there, I would love to have more deep conversations on these topics. Maybe we can schedule a long phone call sometime since i'm sure it will be a while before you come in. I am so bad about answering my phone in the evenings...i just shut down shop when i go home....but we should definitely talk. I'm interested in hearing about you as well. From our talk last time it seems we may have some of the same dilemmas. I've got a trip coming up to the Kentucky derby next weekend...was in vegas last weekend....but will be around here until mid june when john and I go to alaska. I am slightly ready to slow down now...way too much travel...john and i need to spend more quality time together. I don't know how you do the long distance relationship..it would be very hard for me. Monique,

I really wanted to spend some time talking with you this past weekend but with the bachelor party I was involved with, it was impossible to fit it in. And the fact of the matter is I'm sorry on a number of levels. The most obvious is that I simply enjoy spending time with you...always fun and you always have intelligent things to say. At a different level, I think you have a very level head and are great at giving advice and I value you what you have to say about relationships, something I don't think I'm very good at yet. And finally, and at the deepest level, I want to hear what is happening in your life and how you are doing? I know there are things going on in your head about career, relationships, etc. and I'd love to hear about it and hopefully provide some sort of insight, help.

You know I have always had a soft spot in my heart for you and in a strange way I cheer you for your successes and I am sad for you when you are troubled...I'll stop there because this just doesn't come across well through email. Maybe we could grab a beer on Friday afternoon like last time at the Ale House (I'll be in town). Let me know if you are available, respond by email when you can

Hope all is well and I'll talk to you soon,

joe

Monique,

Sorry I haven't gotten back to you before now and I truly wish we could've gotten together over Memorial Day. I was only in town a couple of days and then off to San Antonio so we just missed each other again. Go a lot to catch up on and I am going to be tenacious in my attempts to get a hold of you...let me know when you have time to talk. I am out this weekend but maybe tonight or next week, we can chat. Let me know.

Take care and stay safe.

Dear Valued Ameritrade Customer:

Thank you for using the wire request feature on our website. I have submitted your withdrawal request in the amount of $5700.00. Federal Securities regulations require that stock and bond trades settle three business days after the transaction. Per your instructions to send the funds upon settlement, your wire will be processed on 01/29/2001, settlement day for these transactions.

If you would like the funds requested sent to you prior to the settlement date, Early Settlement fees will apply. The fee structure is as follows:

$25.00 + $0.35 per $1000.00 per day

The $25.00 is a one-time charge per wire request.

If you have further concerns or inquiries, please contact the Wire Team through Customer Service at (800) 669-3900 or (402) 970-5805.

Thank you for choosing Ameritrade!

Sincerely,

Damon Hynes Customer Service/Wire Specialist Ameritrade, Inc.

I was very worried last night. David's note made it seem like something had happened. I didn't know my phone was out. I hardly use it...i'm really not a phone person. But when I realized it was out yesterday...cingular was closed and i couldn't call. John is getting in today. I am doing a fun run tomorrow morning and we will be in the rest of the weekend. I should get the phone taken care of later this afternoon. This evening I have another broker dinner. I will try to call before I got to that. Talk to you later.

Mom, I know you are really strapped to find people to take care of granny on the weekends and i know the costs are adding up as well. But, if you find someone who can come on saturday or sundays for the day or even for a few hours on a weekly basis i can help pay for that expense. With the weather improving, I think it would be good for your stress to be able to get out in the morning and go to the park and just walk the memorial loop and be outside. Do you think Robin could come for a few hrs on sat or sunday mornings? We could meet at the park, David could meet us as well. I do have a few trips planned for the near future, but I would be very happy to meet you at the park to go walking or at Hanks when I am in town. I would not be able to cope well with the stress of my job without the outlet of going to the gym or the park to work things out.. Let me know how I can help.

Went to the doctor this morning. Was telling him about the mild chest pain (over the left side) that have been coming on and lasting no more than 5 minutes. Told him I have been under a hugh amount of stress for quite a long time and that I thought that could very well be the problem. After giving him the wonderful health history of both maternal/paternal side, he decided to do an ECG and complete blood work. ECG states an "abnormal ECG -- non-specific T wave abnormality". I will have to read about the T wave. My blood pressure was 178. Never before that it ever been over 110/80. I am now waiting for referral approval for both a Stress Test at St. Lukes and a bone density/mammogram at St. Joseph. I feel confident that everything is allright, but I thought just in case I should keep both of you posted.

Hey there, No apologies necessary. Actually yesterday I was knee deep in strawberry jam. I spent a great part of the afternoon tied up with that at home. Made 12 jars and they go fast...I may do some more canning this weekend. Friday sounds great....just let me know what time. Take care and talk to you soon, Mo.

Monique,

I really wanted to spend some time talking with you this past weekend but with the bachelor party I was involved with, it was impossible to fit it in. And the fact of the matter is I'm sorry on a number of levels. The most obvious is that I simply enjoy spending time with you...always fun and you always have intelligent things to say. At a different level, I think you have a very level head and are great at giving advice and I value you what you have to say about relationships, something I don't think I'm very good at yet. And finally, and at the deepest level, I want to hear what is happening in your life and how you are doing? I know there are things going on in your head about career, relationships, etc. and I'd love to hear about it and hopefully provide some sort of insight, help.

You know I have always had a soft spot in my heart for you and in a strange way I cheer you for your successes and I am sad for you when you are troubled...I'll stop there because this just doesn't come across well through email. Maybe we could grab a beer on Friday afternoon like last time at the Ale House (I'll be in town). Let me know if you are available, respond by email when you can

Hope all is well and I'll talk to you soon,

joe
