Halloween Party!

Sender	georgew@review.com
Recipients	[georgew@review.com]
File	thomas-p/inbox/174.

Enron Corporation, The Princeton Review, and the Association of Rice Alumni would like to invite you to:

THE 2001 HALLOWEEN MONSTER BASH

Houston's definitive, all-out Halloween party:

Friday, October 26 8:00 pm Garden in the Heights

We are proud to announce the return of the Halloween Monster Bash on Friday, October 26 at Garden in the Heights. You may remember this party from 1998; it was a smash success then and will be at least as much fun this year. We've got an awesome DJ, and tickets include light food and all the drinks you can handle.

Door prizes including gift certificates from Houston's finest restaurants will be awarded for best costumes.

The tickets are essentially at a break-even price, but if there is any money left over, it will go to Rice's scholarship/fellowship fund, so Rice can continue to attract even smarter, harder-working students than they've already got.

DETAILS Date: Friday, October 26 Time: 8:00 PM til midnight or so Place: Garden in the Heights, 3926 Feagan (if you need directions, please call (713) 880-1065)

TICKETS Tickets: $25 with costume or $30 without. How to get tickets: Call the Rice Alumni Office at (713) 348-4057 for advance tickets, or buy them at the door.

SPONSORSHIPS Group and corporate sponsorships are available. Enron, The Princeton Review, and the law firm of Hirsch & Westheimer have already signed on as sponsors.

This party is not exclusive in any way - all of Houston is invited (everyone over 21, that is). So please invite your friends and encourage them to come.

You may get other emails about this as well, as we try our hardest to get the word out. I hope to see you there! -- George W. Webb III Director of Partnership Programs The Princeton Review 701 N. Post Oak Rd. Suite 8 Houston, TX 77024 (713) 688-5500 (713) 688-4746 fax georgew@review.com

PJM NE RTO Study

Sender	royjshanker@worldnet.att.net
Recipients	[d..thomas@enron.com]
File	thomas-p/deleted_items/256.

I wasn't sure if this was distributed. As you know the NYISO with LECG did a pretty good critical review of the problems with the MIRANT study, most of which I agreed with. However, I also thought that from a back of the envelope perspective MIRANT had come up with a reasonable number using a non-supportable methodology.

PJM has apparently revisited the issue. They have tried to estimate regional savings from an integrated commitment and energy market. They did this for a single year, 2001. They ran GEMAPS. The data for the system topology and contingencies was obtained from all three ISO's. They used RDI data on generator costs. The results are striking and a summary is attached.

While I am sure we are going to see more argument and debate about the data, the transactions baseline etc., this is a pretty good first cut at what is at stake. The general methodology is correct, and the data doesn't seem too bad to me. It would make sense for the NYISO to again take a look at this so that all of the participants can evaluate the implications if there are indeed $600 million of potential production cost savings for NY.

Teresa,

I was talking to True Quote while in New Orleans and Chris indicated that a northeast RTO was looking at potentially buying there real time system. I am not sure why they would be looking at the system but suspect that they could use it as a means of communicating with the individual asset owners. Maybe they would use it to display capacity and prices from the asset owners. My desire to talk to the desk is to see if they can help me get a better idea of what the RTO's will be doing and to see if they had any ideas on how to structure a deal for the RTO's. PJM seems to be a front runner in developing solutions for RTO's and has in fact created a company called PJM Tech. Apparently they came to talk to us in the past. I have a good contact at PJM but what to clear a meeting with the desk first.

Difficulties in Posting Price Reservations to the TIE

File	thomas-p/deleted_items/603.

JSavitt@nyiso.com writes to the NYISO_Tech_Exchange Discussion List:

The NYISO has been experiencing difficulties in posting price reservations to the TIE. The postings have from time to time been extraordinarily delayed. Our internal process identifies such delays in enough time so that we can generate another posting by COB of the appropriate day. Several times the originally delayed posting has shown up on the TIE as well, resulting in dual postings. The NYISO apologizes for any confusion. The NYISO notes that the price reservations are also posted to the OASIS, and that there have been no problems in the latter process.

Out-of-Merit

Sender	sassonm@coned.com
Recipients	['d.thomas@enron.com']
File	thomas-p/inbox/283.

From time to time there have been discussions in the TIE list criticizing Con Edison for its involvement in out-of-merit actions, implying that it is inappropriate for Con Edison control room operators to make such requests. In its recent order on the Revised Local Mitigation Measures, FERC, in response to allegations made by Orion, ordered the NYISO to take responsibility for out-of-merit.

The Con Edison system has the world's most concentrated use of energy for residential and commercial purposes. It is also a highly transmission-constrained area where transfer limitations under normal and second contingency conditions require certain minimum generation levels within specific load pockets to assure reliability under existing reliability rules. One of the main functions of the Con Edison control center is to be vigilant of system conditions at all times and prevent the system from reaching an unreliable operating state. When such conditions are imminent, the Con Edison operator so advises the NYISO. Some parties have said that Con Edison operators should never make out-of-merit requests. Con Edison operators would be acting irresponsibly if they were to detect an imminent unreliable operating condition and just sit back and not inform the NYISO of the potential danger. Con Edison operators have been trained to focus on operating the New York City system. The NYISO operators have a much wider state-wide focus. It is entirely appropriate for both a transmission owner (TO) and NYISO operators to work cooperatively in maintaining reliability with the clear understanding that under the FERC-approved tariff, it is the NYISO that has sole responsibility for reliability. I would like to clarify that all involvement by Con Edison operators in out-of-merit actions are based on the following FERC-approved process in which the NYISO, and not the TO operator, has sole responsibility for these actions.

The NYISO FERC Electric Tariff, Section 5.4, Operations Under Adverse Conditions states in essence that: * The NYISO shall operate the system in accordance with Reliability Rules, including local rules * The NYISO will do this, among other measures, by adjusting generator output levels * The NYISO has sole responsibility for declaring that Adverse Conditions are imminent * Activation of these actions shall involve a two-step process 1. The TO involved will advise the NYISO that an Adverse Condition is imminent and recommend action 2. The NYISO activates the appropriate procedures * Records of the activation of such procedures shall be maintained by both the TO and the NYISO

Having stated the above, let me also say that Con Edison has been working with NYISO operations to minimize the occurrences of conditions that require Con Edison operators to request actions that result in OOM operations. Con Edison supports current efforts by the NYISO to manage load pocket reliability events in a way that SCD can be used to maintain reliability with in-merit generation.

In effect, the FERC recent order does not require any change from present practice which is, and has always been, in compliance with Section 5.4 of the NYISO FERC Electric Tariff, and in compliance with FERC's recent order: the NYISO is solely responsible for out-of-merit actions.

November 2001

Dear Friends & Family,

Happy Thanksgiving! We hope that all of you are able to spend quality time with your loved ones over the long holiday weekend.

Sophie and I would like to inform you that we have recently moved to New Orleans, Louisiana (NOLA), as of Labor Day weekend. As many of you know, our recent transition is a result of Sophie's admission into the Tulane School of Medicine. She is currently pursuing her life-long dream of becoming a doctor and we are both very excited for this opportunity.

NOLA is a familiar environment for both of us; it's where we met nearly four years ago. We are still maintaining a partial residence in Houston and try to visit family & friends at least once a month. I am still based out of the Accenture Houston Office and currently work on a project in Atlanta during the week. Although we will be a little further away from all of you, we very much look forward to your visits. And we're especially happy to announce that we'll be able to entertain you in our new loft (unless, of course, Med School exams are going on).

Please feel free to update the following contact information and take note of the upcoming events that will be taking place in New Orleans...

UPDATED CONTACT INFORMATION -

Our new address: 3700 Orleans Avenue #4404 New Orleans, LA 70119

Our new phone number: 504-934-1027

UPCOMING EVENTS IN NEW ORLEANS -

Nokia Sugar Bowl (Only if UT makes it): Tuesday, January 1, 2001

Mardi Gras 2002: Friday, January 25 ? Tuesday, February 12, 2002

NFL Super Bowl 2002: Super Sunday, February 3, 2002

Jazz Fest 2002: Friday, April 26 ? Sunday, May 5, 2002

We hope that all of you and your families are doing well at work, in school and at home. Please keep in touch and let us know if you'll be in the area!

Take Care (and Laissez le Bon Temps Rouler!),

Andrew & Sophie

All right ladies and gentlemen - here's the skinny on Tahoe... to refresh your memory for those of you who went last year, we stayed in Tahoe City, skiing Squaw and Alpine Meadows. This year to add a little variety I was thinking South Lake Tahoe, which is closer to Heavenly and Kirkwood and includes more of a night life, such as casinos for those of us who are gambling challenged... So here are the details:

Dates: The 2nd weekend of March, 3/8-3/10 appears to work best for everyone (especially after enough whining by Reagan).

Accommodations: There are a couple of 3-bdrm. condos next door to each other at the Tahoe Keys for $300/night, sleeping 8-10 people each... You can do the math, but it will probably come out to about $35/person/night, give or take... Most of these places have a 3-night minimum, so if everyone can get away Thurs. after work, we could plan on at least staying Thurs-Sat. nights and skiing Fri, Sat., & possibly Sunday.

Transportation: They have round trip shuttles from Reno to SLT for about $70 or $75, or we could rent one or two SUVs or vans at the airport - I'll leave that up to yall as I'll be cruising in from my crib Sac-town... Check into flights from your respective cities, but I believe SW has $99 each way from Austin...

So that we can go ahead and book these condos, we need to get confirmations from everyone interested in going as soon as possible - also let me know if you can make it up Thurs. nite...

Peace, Chris

From: ADesell@nyiso.com [mailto:ADesell@nyiso.com] Sent: Monday, October 15, 2001 4:29 PM To: market_relations@nyiso.com Subject: ICAP Announcement - Revision to Con Edison Transmission District UCAPRequirement

ADesell@nyiso.com writes to the NYISO_TECH_EXCHANGE Discussion List:

Due to the terrorist actions in NYC which collapsed offices in the World Trade Center complex and reduced customer Load in that Transmission District, the ISO is re-calculating the Unforced Capacity ("UCAP") requirement for the Consolidated Edison Transmission District (CETD) and the New York Control Area. The new UCAP requirement for the CETD for the Capability Period 11/1/01 to 4/31/02 is 12788 MW and the total UCAP requirement for the New York Control Area is 32892 MW. Changes in the UCAP requirements of affected LSEs will be provided to them, individually, today.

The table below provides a comparison of the revised UCAP requirements to those in effect prior to this revision.

Revised In Effect Prior Reduction 10/15/2001 to 10/15/2001

Hello Tamara,

Brian Terp has been given access to EnPower, however, the GCP_Houston team will need to know which desk(s), specifically, that Brian needs access.

Please supply the full desk(s) name(s), i.e. EPMI Long Term PJM.

Gary,

We spoke last week about opportunities that your company currently has open. Currently, I am making markets on Enron Online for the PJM cash and term off peak market. In addition, I still manage the Northeast Physical book for the Northeast (PJM, NYISO, and NEPOOL) and manage the Northeast real time trading desk. I also have participated in the PJM FTR and NYISO TCC market in my tenure here at Enron. The opportunities that I would most be interested are those located here in the Houston area. My second choice would then be those positions located in Florida. I look forward to talking to you soon.

NYMOC - Houston, Texas: December 11 - 13.

Sender	ffrancis@nyiso.com
Recipients	['d..thomas@enron.com']
File	thomas-p/deleted_items/621.

- The following message is being posted on the web and being sent to the Tie List Server this afternoon, October 29.

On December 11 - 13, 2001 the NYISO will present NYMOC in the Lone Star State. We've just posted the course on our web site at

<http://www.nyiso.com/services/training/cinfo/index.html>

This course is similar to NYMOCs run in the Albany NY area, except that it does not include Billing and Accounting details. The program will address the latest system updates, however, and rigorously covers all marketplace topics.

The course will be conducted at the Hyatt Regency Houston, 1200 Louisiana Street, Houston, Texas, from 8:30am Tuesday December 11 until 3:00pm Thursday December 13. If you're interested, we suggest you register early as we expect a healthy turn-out. In order to get a realistic count, there will be a $300 charge for no-shows, or for cancellations not made by 12:00 noon Monday, December 3.

Please call Market Relations at (518) 356-6060, if you have any questions regarding the course, or Debbie Doyle at (518) 356-6274 regarding registrations.

New estimate

Sender	lrhoden@rmcv.com
Recipients	['d..thomas@enron.com']
File	thomas-p/deleted_items/396.

Hi Paul, I have attached the new estimates below, with rolling in all costs you are saving about $100 per month including the first and second mortgages, which is substantial. At this point you probably have quite a bit in your escrow account, tax bills go out November 1 and insurance is due October 1. If you reduce your loan amount by these amounts and pay for them at closing out of pocket you will reduce it even more. The catch is that you won't receive this money back from your current until probably 5 weeks after closing. It's up to you whether you want to "pocket" that money by having rolled it into the loan amount or reimburse the out of pocket money from this closing by not having rolled it into the loan amount. It can be confusing so let me know if you have any questions. Refinance options

Hi Paul, Finally drug your file out to the basement. I have attached several different options in the Excel file below. Keep in mind that about 5 weeks after closing you will receive a check from your current lender for the existing escrow account. You can either pocket that money or "reimburse" your out put from this closing. Let me know if you need further clarification on this or any of the options. I've attached the application and forms I need for processing. I have survey, dec page and mortgage info already mostly need updated W2, paystubs and banking info.

I didn't speak with your coworker yesterday unless I'm really losing it. Ask him to give me a call anytime or give me his name and I'll give him a call. Thanks so much for calling and I look forward to helping you save some money. Paul,

I spoke with David Lawrence. He did indicate that there would be slide presentations available prior to the meeting with which conference-call participants could use to keep up but acknowledged that attendance would probably be more effective. I'd suggest talking with Dana about the prospect of attending.

Tom--let me know what you'd prefer & if Dana wants Paul to attend we can make arrangements together (as long as I don't have to share a room with Paul).
